Observation from 30 Years of PICC Excellence

The Global Impact of Evidence-Based Vascular Access Education

When I started PICC Excellence, my goal was simple: provide healthcare professionals with resource and support of the most current, evidence-based education to improve patient outcomes in vascular access.

What I didn't anticipate was how far this mission would reach.

Over the years, we've had the privilege of collaborating with:

- Leading, internationally-recognized healthcare organizations across multiple continents who trust our curriculum for their staff development programs
- Fortune 500 medical device manufacturers who rely on our expertise to enhance their product training initiatives
- International healthcare systems implementing our protocols to standardize their vascular access practices
- Research institutions partnering with us to advance the science of vascular access care

But here's what matters most to me:

It's not the prestige of these partnerships that drives our work – it's knowing that every nurse, every clinician, every healthcare professional who completes our training goes back to their unit better equipped to serve their patients.

Whether you're working in a 20-bed rural hospital or more than 1,000-bed academic medical center, the fundamentals of safe, effective vascular access remain the same. Evidence-based practices don't change based on the size of your facility or the recognition of your institution.

That's why we remain committed to:

- Accessible, practical education that work in real-world settings
- Content that's immediately applicable to your daily practice
- Training that respects your experience while expanding your knowledge

The trust these organizations place in PICC Excellence is really trust in you – the dedicated professionals who make patient care their priority every single day. Thank you for being part of this community and for the important work you do.

In partnership for better patient outcomes,

Dr. Nancy Moureau, RN, PhD, CRNI, CPUI, VA-BC
